1. The amendment received January 12, 2004 has been considered.
2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).
4. Claims s 1-17,43-46 remain rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sato et al 5,742,039 in view of Johnson et al 5,991,876. Sato and Johnson disclose the elements as seen in the previous office action of March 17, 2003 and remain combinable for the same reasons as previously set forth. As seen in the office action of October 6, 2003, Sato and Johnson fail to teach or disclose affixing a semiconductor device to a book as now claimed. Garber et al 6,486,780 teaches throughout a RF tag insertable (affixable) to a book. There is disclosed a memory device (semiconductor device) for maintaining records regarding the book. It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to use the system of Garber and replace the label of Sato/Johnson with the RF tag of Garber. This would allow for constant tracking of the location of a book within a facility and for automatic updating of the records regarding the book. Although Sato, Johnson and Garber do not specifically disclose "by the consumer" as now claimed, a consumer is, if not inherently included in the Sato, Johnson and Garber combination, it would certainly have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to limit the number of copies by a consumer in order to avoid consumer theft of more copies that allowed.

5. Applicant's arguments filed January 12, 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that Garber is not combinable with Sato and Johnson because Garber's internal mechanism is not directed to the same invention as Sato and Johnson. It is the examiner's position that Garber was used only for the teaching of "tagging" a book in order to maintain records, not for the internal mechanism of the tag of Garber itself. The claimed mechanism is taught by Sato and Johnson.

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
